Writing Task 2

Question:

You should spend about 40 minutes on this task. Write at least 250 words.
At the present time, the population of some countries includes a relatively large number of young adults, compared with the number of older people.
Do the advantages of this situation outweigh the disadvantages?

Answer:

At recect time, the public of few countries add a quite large number of young adults, compared with the number of older people. Yes, I think that the advantages of this situation outweigh the disadvantages. Because the amount of advantages are sufficiant to cover the disadvantages.

In todays world, the young adults are much more knowledgeable compared to the adults. Nowdays, the youngs are faster in every work that is given by the higher authority or any other field. The level of IQ that today's young adults have sometimes amazed the country people. By them country will accomplish a great amount of work which is impossible to do by a older people. There are some work field that is grown by the younger hand. In this decade, the younger adults are more facinate about the freelancing work. By that they earn foreign money that also help the country. Countries are using their brain to stable the economy.

On the other hand, the olders are much more experienced compare to the younger ones. In a country there are some risky and critical sector that everyone cannot handle the situation. In this circumstances we need a experienced authorized people. Thats why we need senior citizens in some sector. Also in the political sector we need experienced human to run the country smoothly. In a political sector we have to make a proper decision to implimant on the country.

I think that, this is better to include more younger people because the future depends on the younger adults hand . This is the era of AI and the only persons know the technology better than the old people is the younger adults.

In the contrary, a country need both peoples to handle a situation or to enhance the power. So, there is no reason to make difference between the older and younger ones. At the end we need both of the generation to save the world.

Hello! Thank you for submitting your IELTS Task 1 response. It's clear you've put in a good effort to analyze the information and structure your answer. Let's walk through your work together, focusing on what you've done well and where there are opportunities for growth.

Strengths:
* Clear Introduction: You successfully introduced the topic and the location, setting the scene for your report.
* Key Feature Identification: You correctly identified the largest age group of library members (adults) and the most popular loan categories (children's and adult fiction) and the least popular (children's DVDs). This shows you can pick out important data points.
* Paragraphing: You've used paragraphs to organize your ideas, which helps in readability.

Areas for Development:
* Task Achievement - Comprehensive Coverage: The most significant area for improvement here is that you did not provide any detailed description of the bar chart (Total number of loans 2007–2016). Your overview mentions a 'rise and fall', but you need to describe the trend over time, noting significant changes, peaks, or plateaus. To score well, all parts of the visual information must be adequately addressed.
* Task Achievement - Overview Accuracy: Your overall statement contained a factual error ('the lowest member was young adults and adults' – adults were actually the highest). The overview should be general and accurate, summarizing the main features of all charts without specific numbers.
* Coherence & Cohesion - Linking and Flow: While you use basic linking words like 'Overall,' 'And,' 'Moreover,' and 'However,' some sentences begin with 'And' or could be linked more smoothly. The absence of bar chart details also impacts the overall flow and logical progression of your report.
* Lexical Resource - Range and Accuracy: Your vocabulary is quite basic, and there are repeated phrases. More importantly, there are several spelling errors ('percantages,' 'fictions,' 'childrens') and some informal phrasing ('not that great'). Developing a wider range of academic vocabulary to describe data and trends would be very beneficial.
* Grammatical Range & Accuracy - Persistent Errors: This is where you have the most room for improvement. There are frequent grammatical errors, including subject-verb agreement (e.g., 'percentages was'), article usage (e.g., 'the adults'), pluralization (e.g., 'DVD's'), and awkward sentence structures (e.g., 'The library of the members'). Your sentences are mostly simple; trying to incorporate a mix of simple and complex sentence structures will help improve your score.

Hello! Thank you for sharing your essay. I can see you’ve put a good deal of effort into addressing the prompt and expressing your ideas. Your essay clearly communicates your opinion on the topic, which is a great starting point for IELTS Writing.

Let's break down your performance:

Strengths:
* Task Response: You have clearly addressed the prompt by stating your opinion (advantages outweigh disadvantages) and supporting it with reasons for both younger and older generations. Your main points are discernible, and you generally maintain a consistent position throughout the essay.
* Coherence and Cohesion: Your essay is well-structured with clear paragraphs, each focusing on a distinct aspect of your argument. You've used some cohesive devices like 'On the other hand' to link your ideas, which helps the reader follow your argument.

Areas for Development:
* Grammatical Range and Accuracy: This is an area where improvement would significantly boost your score. There are frequent grammatical errors, particularly with subject-verb agreement (e.g., 'the amount of advantages are' instead of 'the amount of advantages is'), article usage ('a older people' instead of 'an older person'), incorrect word forms ('recect' for 'recent', 'facinate' for 'fascinated', 'implimant' for 'implement', 'stable' used incorrectly as a verb), and often awkward or incomplete sentence structures. These errors sometimes make it difficult for the reader to fully grasp your intended meaning and affect the flow.
* Lexical Resource: While your vocabulary is sufficient to convey your main ideas, there is room to expand your range and improve accuracy. You tend to repeat certain words (e.g., 'country', 'people', 'young adults'). Some word choices are informal ('the olders', 'the youngs') or inaccurate. Focusing on more precise and academic vocabulary, and ensuring correct word formation, will enhance your writing.
* Task Response (Minor Point): Your concluding paragraph somewhat shifts from your initial strong stance that 'advantages outweigh disadvantages' by suggesting that 'a country needs both peoples'. While this shows a nuanced perspective, ensure your conclusion firmly reiterates and reinforces your initial thesis for maximum clarity. This will make your argument feel more cohesive from start to finish.

Keep practicing these areas, and you will definitely see your scores improve. Your ability to generate ideas and structure your essay is commendable, and with focused attention on grammar and vocabulary, you're well on your way to a higher band score!
